Medical Affairs Opportunity at Almirall UK

Medical Advisor / Senior Medical Advisor – Office based, Stockley Park, West London, UK

Take the red pill and things stay the same. Take the blue one and everything will change. Your career will accelerate, grow. You'll join Almirall.

Almirall is an international pharmaceutical company with a presence in over 70 countries and headquartered in Barcelona, Spain. We research, develop, manufacture and market proprietary R&D and licensed drugs with the aim of improving people's health and quality of life.

The top 15 Almirall medicines in Europe cover a variety of therapeutic areas, at least 4 which are from Almirall's own R&D programs. Almirall also has the most exciting late stage pipeline of new products in its history with innovative medicines for COPD and irritable bowel syndrome.

The UK affiliate has an industry leading Dermatology portfolio and is now rapidly expanding and recruiting a high performing medical team in anticipation of our new launches in the near future.

We are looking for an experienced and talented medical adviser/senior medical adviser to join our growing medical team based in the UK headquarters. We pride ourselves with an open and collaborative cross-functional culture where your medical insights will add value to the medical and clinical strategies of our new medicines. This is a unique and exciting opportunity to build the strategic plans in the pre-launch period and contribute to a highly successful launch. Being one of the most significant affiliates in Europe you will work closely with other affiliates and in particular with head office in Barcelona influencing the global plans including clinical programs and market access strategies.

You should be proactive, enthusiastic, collaborative and willing to work closely with cross-functional colleagues. You want to bring your advanced knowledge and skillsets to the team to enable successful strategies and execution while maintaining the highest ethical and compliance standards. You should be able to project manage, prioritise activities and not be frightened to innovate and bring fresh ideas to the team. Taking responsibility, being accountable and demonstrating professionalism are key and you will have the opportunity to strengthen your credibility with national and international thought leaders and experts.

We are passionate about our people and are focused on identifying and supporting talent. Almirall makes sure everyone we employ realizes his or her full potential. We can offer a stimulating environment in a fast moving and truly international Spanish pharmaceutical company. You should be medically qualified and GMC registered with significant experience in medical affairs in the pharmaceutical sector. Having clinical and/or pharmaceutical experience in respiratory or gastrointestinal therapy areas is desirable but not essential. In return we will offer a competitive salary and excellent benefits.

So if you're looking to grow your career, you have a choice. Take the blue pill, join us.
